

Health Care Summit Conversations

Posted by John Sharp at 1/27/2009 9:53 PM and is filed under healthcare predictions, Healthcare IT

A major summit begins tomorrow in Florida on health care reform. With Donna Shalala moderating, this summit. There will be a dedicated topic on Health Information Technology with one of the key speakers C. Martin Harris of the Cleveland Clinic. The conference website notes the recent Rand Corporation study stating, "that properly implemented and widely adopted, HIT would save money and significantly improve health care quality. Annual savings from efficiency alone could be $77 billion or more, and health and safety benefits could double savings while reducing illness and prolonging life."

Will this conference result in a general consensus on health care reform which can be implemented by the new administration?

A webcast will be available at 630pm EST.

<http://ehealth.johnwsharp.com/2009/01/27/health-care-summit-conversations.aspx?ref=rss>